To run, simply pull the repository onto your local machine and open the weather.html HTML file to deploy the web page on an internet browser